

“POLITICS, FAITH & UNITY”

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1

In this weekend’s message, the Big Question was: Are you willing to put your faith filter ahead of your political filter? Share an experience when you set aside your faith filter and allowed your political or cultural filter to take priority. What did you learn? What caused you to change your mind/opinion?

2

What does it look like to “seek the kingdom first” in our current political climate of contempt of differing opinions, heightened polarization, and loss of a moral center? How can you be a glimmer of hope, a repairer of relationships, and an advocate of unity in your home, your neighborhood, your work place, at such a time as this to bring the kingdom of God into the kingdom of this world?

3

How does your identity as a Christ-follower made in the image of God inform the way you relate with others whose opinions are different than yours? What can you practice this week that will help you cultivate a posture of thoughtful consideration, openness to hear another viewpoint, and empathy for and towards the differing experiences of others?
